WASHINGTON NEWS.

District of Columbia Residents Anxious About Tickets to the Monument Dedication Services—Nicanraguan Treaty.

How Randall's Chances Are to be Judged—What Measures Will Probably be Taken Up.

THE MONUMENT DEDICATION.

The Inhabitants of the District of Columbia Afraid of Being Neglected at the Dedication Services.

Special to the Sentinel.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Citizens of this District are complaining over the meagreness of their opportunities to witness the ceremonies of the dedication of the Washington Monument. They will occur at the Capitol and tickets of admission will be issued. The tickets will all be distributed by the Senators and Representatives, who, of course, live away from here, and as the demands of their constituents come first, and there will be thousands who will want admission—many thousands more than can be accommodated—the consequence will be the citizens of the District of Columbia will be left out in the cold.

It has been proposed that the ceremonies shall take place in the room at the new pension building, under preparation for the inaugural ball, and where about five times as many people can hear them; if not there, and the weather is propitious, then out doors.

The orators on that occasion will undoubtedly exert themselves, and their efforts will be well worthy of attention. Under the present arrangement not more than one in each hundred who apply will be given tickets to the galleries, and it looks as though the per cent of people from this city who will be favored will be nominal.

THE NICARAGUAN TREATY.

The Messages of President Zachary Taylor Transmitting the Bulwer-Clayton Treaty Made Public—Very Apropos at This Time.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The messages of President Zachary Taylor, transmitting to the Senate the document composing the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, of which so much has been said of late, have been made public. They bear date of April, 1850, and give much information that is of special value at this time, during the discussion of the Nicaragua treaty. The Clayton-Bulwer treaty is in many respects like that with the State of Nicaragua. They both originated from a desire by American citizens and the Government to construct or control a canal route through Nicaragua and connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. As Nicaragua is a Central American State and is directly connected geographically with the United States, the subject is one of vast importance to this Government.

The Clayton-Bulwer treaty merely guarantees, between the English and American Governments, protection by one to the other of any interest the citizens of either shall have in the Central American States, with especial reference to the Nicaraguan Canal. This protection is to private parties. The Nicaraguan treaty means that the United States Government will construct, or aid or encourage the construction of the canal, to be controlled by people or the Government of the United States. Therefore, some of the Senators hold that it is in conflict with the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, because the latter, in spirit, abrogated the rights of the Government to aid in the construction of the canal.

A CLEVELAND VISITOR.

What is Reported as to Cleveland's Treatment of a Young and Presumptuous Caller.

Special to the Sentinel.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—A gentleman who has just returned from Albany relates a little incident, coming from the man servant of Mr. Cleveland's household, which shows pretty clearly one character of the new President. A few days ago a young politician called at the residence of Mr. Cleveland. He was most cordially received—so cordial, indeed, that he trespassed upon the good graces of the host. The young man was permitted to talk very freely. Mr. Cleveland at first was much interested in him and gave him a great deal of attention, notwithstanding the caller was an applicant for a position. Finally he told what he wanted and insisted upon a positive and immediate answer. He got neither. Then he began to give Mr. Cleveland advice. He presumed, it proved, upon the intelligence and credulity of the newly-elected Executive, for after he had proceeded some time, and shown a good deal of impertinence, Mr. Cleveland arose, and looking his friend steadily in the eye, remarked:

"Young man, you are too fresh. Good afternoon."

The young presumptuous showed a good deal of surprise. His eyes poded, but he got up and got.

Randall's Action on the Appropriations Will Indicate His Cabinet Prospects, Special to the Sentinel.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The manner in which Chairman Randall will go to work on rushing appropriations through the House this week will indicate his hopes in President-elect Cleveland, it is thought. If he moves slowly it will indicate that he is not trying to please the incoming man; if rapidly, the contrary will be true, because slow work means an extra session and rapid work a desire to avoid it. Mr. Cleveland is anxious that there be no extra session. Mr. Randall has just returned from Mr. Cleveland, where he was consulted. The members of the House are anxious thus to watch the effect or the impression the visit has had.

CLEVELAND'S CONSULTATIONS.

Hendricks Hastily Summoned to Albany to Meet Grover and Carlisle—No Material Significance in the Recent Visits to the President-Elect.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Star has the following special from Albany, in regard to the procession of statesmen moving in on Cleveland:

"Vice President Hendricks arrived here last evening and proceeded directly to the Kinmore. He did not register his name, and has endeavored to keep his presence in Albany a secret. He spent the latter portion of the evening with President-elect Cleveland and Speaker Carlisle. Early this morning Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle paid a social call on Cleveland.

"Shortly after their departure, about 11 o'clock, Mr. Hendricks drove to Mr. Cleveland's residence, and was closeted with him until 1 o'clock. Messrs. Hendricks and Carlisle leave New York at 2:40 this evening. Mr. Hendricks was summoned to Albany by telegraph yesterday by Governor Cleveland, in order that the three official representatives of Democracy might consult before the conference at New York next week. The conference promises to be the most important gathering of Democrats held since the war.

"Governor Cleveland will not leave for New York until Tuesday morning. Mr. Hendricks leaves for New York at 6 this evening. The visits which have thus far been paid to President-elect Cleveland have accomplished nothing definite so far as the personnel of his administration is concerned.

"As was stated in the Star's dispatches some weeks ago, the President-elect's original plan was to invite to Albany, in turn, perhaps a dozen of the more prominent men in the party. However, after the visit of Senators Bayard and Garland, who came on their own motion, it was decided to change that plan. Speaker Carlisle was invited, as the highest official representative of the Democratic party. Mr. Randall was invited, because President-elect Cleveland recognized that he represented a large element in the party opposed to Speaker Carlisle. These two invitations, then, were intended as tributes to the position of the two men in the party, and are not to be construed as evidence that either will have personal influence in the designation of the Cabinet. Mr. Cleveland was also guided, in part, in the selection of these two gentlemen by the well-known fact that neither would accept a Cabinet office. The visit to New York next week, then, is a mark of respect to the general leaders of the party. As a new man, Mr. Cleveland felt under obligations to show this regard to older leaders. At the same time, any one who knows the President-elect's disposition knows that the advice which may be tendered him must be directly to the point, if the one who proffers it has any expectations that it will be heeded. Mr. Cleveland has never subordinated his judgment of men to supposed political advantages in the past. Recommendations must be as to the specific qualifications of men for specific places; if they are to avail. This much can be said positively of him, for it is a rule which he uniformly regulated his conduct as Governor."

PROSPECTIVE LEGISLATION.

Several Bills Proposed to be Called Up With the Probable Doing in Each Branch of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—In the House of Representatives to-morrow individual nations to suspend the rules will be in order, and a number of new members will endeavor by this means to secure the immediate passage of specified measures. A two-thirds vote will be necessary to pass any bill that may be considered.

Representative Collins will ask the House to pass the Bankruptcy bill and Representative Mason the bill providing for an increase in the pensions of soldiers' widows from $5 to $8 per month.

Representative Payne will endeavor to pass the bill providing for an increase of the appropriation of $750,000 to $1,000,000 for the public building at Pittsburgh.

Representative Springer, the bill to provide an appropriation for a public building at Springfield, Ill., and Representative McCoid, a similar bill for a building at Keokuk.

It is the general opinion that the remainder of the week will be taken up by the consideration of the River and Harbor and Postoffice Appropriation bills.

If the opportunity offers, however, Representative Henly will call up the bill providing for the forfeit of the Northern Pacific land grant.

Mr. Townsend contemplates offering a resolution during the week providing for a night session of the House.

The Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill is before the Senate, and the District of Columbia Pension and Agricultural bills are likely to be reported back from the Appropriations Committee during the week. It is probable that none of these measures will give rise to an extended debate.

The Interstate Commerce bill is still an unfinished business in the Senate after the morning hour, and discussion on the Pacific Railroad bill has already begun in the morning hour.

Senator Morrill gave notice last week that he would seek an opportunity next Tuesday to make some remarks upon the Silver Coinage bill. This measure is likely to give rise to a long debate, involving nearly every branch of national finance.

Commissioner of Patents' Report.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The annual report of the Commissioner of Patents shows the receipts were $1,075,789; expenditures, $970,586, and the balance in the United States Treasury, account of the patent fund, $2,781,695. There were issued 30,297 patents and designs, 116 patents were renewed, 1,021 trade-marks and 513 labels registered; 12,301 patents expired and patents withheld in 2,589 cases for nonpayment of final fee. Of the patents issued 10,013 went to citizens of the United States, and 1,284 to foreigners.

No Deaths Yet From the Gas Explosions.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1.—No deaths have occurred from yesterday's natural gas explosions. The twenty-one victims are resting easy, with the exception of Mary Smolder, the young woman who struck the match which caused the first explosion. Her condition is very serious, and it is feared she inhaled some of the burning gas. The scene of the disaster was visited to-day by thousands of people. Boxes have been placed around the wrecked district and extra police detailed to keep the crowd back and prevent injury from falling walls.

The property owners of the Fifteenth and Seventeenth wards will hold an indignation meeting in the Fifteenth Ward School House to-morrow, to denounce the present system of piping natural gas through the streets, and insist upon the companies adopting such measures as will prevent explosions in the future.

Rev. Heber Newton.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Rev. R. Heber Newton, author of the Memorial (P. E.) Church, made no allusion in the pulpit to-day to the report that he was to be tried for heresy. In the course of his discourse he said in all the writings of the Great Teacher there was no perfect thought, also, "If the teachings of some men are to be believed, the Eternal Being has selected certain individuals for Heaven and ordained that others shall be consigned to everlasting damnation. Their doctrine means, according to this theory, that some men are chosen as objects of God's favor, and others left to their fate. Such a theory is revolting to human nature. Is there any wonder that the hot irons of indignation are barbed against it?"

Prophesies His Own Death.

GALVESTON, Feb. 1.—William Garlock, late cashier of the Island Savings Bank, died this afternoon from paralysis. Last November Garlock returned from a year's sojourn in the North, his health greatly improved. About December 1, from the books of the bank, he discovered it had been wrecked during his absence. Confronted these matters to friends at the time, Garlock said his health was so restored that he could have lived for years, "but this discovery," said he, "will kill me. I will be dead in two months." The cashier's prophecy was fulfilled to the very day. No shadow of blame for the bank's failure attaches to Garlock's management or memory.

Collision of Freight Trains.

DAYTON, Feb. 1.—Two freight trains on the N. Y. & W. collided near Kent, O., this afternoon, demolishing both engines, telescoping and burning a number of cars, destroying much merchandise and killing a number of cattle. The engineers and firemen jumped from the trains without injury. The caboose, in which were several owners and train men, was detached in time to save it from the wreck. The cattle train going east without orders caused the wreck.

Telephone Wires Cut.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—All the telephone wires on Staten Island were cut last night. A few days ago the salaries of the employees of the company were reduced, and the superintendent and other employees resigned. Some of the old linemen are adjusting the wires to-day. The cutting was done in several places, and the ends of the wires linked by cords.

The United States Consul at Liverpool Objects to Sending Paupers Here.

AFFAIRS IN THE SOUDAN.

General Wolsey Sends a Flattering Dispatch From Khartoum.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The following dispatch has been received from General Wolsey:

Khartoum, Feb. 1.—General Earle advanced his troops within seven miles of Birti, but will be unable to concentrate them in readiness to attack that place until the 31, owing to the difficulty of navigating the river. The enemy holds a strong position at Birti. A deserter from the rebel ranks says the commander at Birti received a letter from the Emir of Berber stating the British had captured Metemneh and sent steamers to Khartoum with troops and stores for the garrison there. The Emir strongly advised the commander of Birti not to oppose Earle's advance, as the British are sending troops across the desert from Kereko to Abu Hamed to suppress the rebels. A deserter recently left Berber, where, he says, are twenty-six survivors of the massacre of Colonel Stewart's party, wrecked in the Nile in one of Gordon's steamers. The survivors are Syrians and Greeks. He says they are not imprisoned, but are not allowed to leave Berber.

British Reconnoissance.

SUAKIM, Feb. 1.—The British to-day made a reconnoissance in force with two guns. They shelled the enemy's camp at Hashen. Two others were fighting when these two joined in with the result stated. All the men had been drinking heavily. Culhane was cut horribly about the head and in the region of the heart, resulting in his death within twenty minutes. The saloonist closed the door and kept out the police so that the murderer escaped, and is still at large. Culhane was a laborer, aged twenty-four and married, but not living with his wife.

A BOTANICAL BEAT.

Thrilling Adventures of a Gay and Reckless Lothario.

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 1.—Dr. Pietro Baldaio, said to be of French nobility, disappeared, and the bondsmen in a case of robbery alleged against him, yesterday announced $500 reward for his capture. The fellow came to Santa Fe one year ago, and was at once spotted by an ex-member of Congress as a character who figured quite extensively at Washington, D. C., some years ago. Upon his arrival he announced that he was sent out by the Botanical Bureau of the French Government, to investigate and report upon the botanical resources in New Mexico. He entered on the practice of medicine, became editor of a Spanish paper, and since, obtaining the confidence of a large number of influential Mexican citizens, had been carrying on a system of confidence games, which have now turned his former supporters into bitter enemies. Among other things, he carried on a sensational flirtation with Mrs. Perfecto Yrisari, a wealthy Spanish bride, and caused her estrangement from her husband, at the same time robbing her husband of several thousand dollars, for which he was to be tried at the approaching term of the court. Having given bond he was released from jail. His latest exploit was to forge the name of J. B. Lamy, Jr., to a check for $200 to pay a gambling debt, which forgery has been detected since his disappearance.

Boy Fatally Shot by a Companion.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—Harry Thompson, aged sixteen, of 1,940 Ueber street, was shot fatally this evening by a companion, Fred Crowthers. Crowthers asserts the shooting was unintentional. Several boys had been skating, and were on their way home, when Crowthers produced a self-loading revolver, and, pointing it in the air, pulled the trigger. The revolver did not go off, and Crowthers pointed it at the other boys in rapid succession. When he pointed it at Thompson it did go off, and Thompson fell mortally wounded. The boys, supposing Thompson dead, became frightened and fled. The injured boy was found later.

Exposition Prospects Brightening.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 1.—There was the usual Sunday attendance at the World's Exposition. The weather continues clear and pleasant. The arrivals to-day were much greater than yesterday. Bender, Deputy Clerk of the Probate Court, who claimed to have been robbed in the Court-house yesterday, admitted to the Chief of Police to-day that he took the money himself, and restored the whole amount.
